4. Inspiration – Mariana Nicolae,

“There is an ancient Iroquois philosophy – The Seventh Generation Principle – that says decisions we make today should result in a sustainable world for seven generations into the future.

When it comes to the water, every kettle we boil, plastic bottle of water we purchase to drink, or bath or shower we take is a choice we make to use the planet’s scarce resources. With regards to the Seventh Generation Principle, none of us wants to contribute to a water apocalypse for our children and grandchildren”.
